Job vacancy No. 028-2021

The IPF-Institute of Theory of Polymers is looking for a

Researcher / Junior group leader (m/f/d),

40 hours/week.

The Leibniz Institute of Polymer Research Dresden (IPF) is one of the largest polymer research facilities in Germany. As an institute of the Leibniz Association, the IPF is committed to carrying out application-oriented basic research and receives its base funding in equal parts from the federal and state governments. The institution granting the Ph.D. degree is the Technical University (TU) Dresden.

Description:
Junior group leader in theoretical soft condensed matter and polymer physics

Nachwuchsgruppenleiter in der Theorie der weichen kondensierten Materie und Polymerphysik

The institute “Theory of Polymers” at the IPF Dresden is seeking for a junior group leader in the field of theory of soft condensed matter and polymer physics. Actual fields of research at the institute are phase transition in complex polymer fluids, biological polymer physics, responsive and switchable soft matter, material theory and modeling, and the development of computational methods. It is expected that the candidate will actively raise research funds to build up a team. The candidate is invited to participate in teaching in the Faculty of Physics at the TU Dresden and there is the possibility for habilitation. Furthermore, collaborations within the cluster of excellence “Physics of Life” can be established. The ideal candidate should have a PhD in Physics or closely related areas and a strong background in soft matter/polymer physics. To be qualified as a group leader postdoctoral research experience is expected.

Salary: According to German pay grade TV-L EG 14
Starting date: Mai 2021
Duration: 2 years with the possibility of prolongation.
